FFA Chapter Father-Son Banquet

OUR CHAPTER INSTALLED THREE honorary members this year. They were James Nolan, W. T. Johnson, and Ben Wheeler. Also shown in above picture is David Wheeler, president of the FFA.

David Wheeler, on the left, presents Mr. Carter, on the right, a plaque as a show of appreciation for his eleven years service to the FFA Chapter.

The Appomattox County High School FFA Chapter held its annual Father-Son banquet as an outdoor barbecue on May 4, on the school lawn. The highlight of the chapter's activities for the year was attended by 175 members, guests, and friends. David Wheeler, chapter president, was master of ceremonies.

After the meal, the meeting called to order in the auditorium with a brief intermission of entertainment provided by Russel Tomlin, Brent Washburn welcomed everyone and Jesse Morgan had the introduction of guests. Gary Thomas, State FFA reporter, brought us greetings from the State Association.

The program consisted of a slide series with narration entitled, "The Place of the FFA in Agricultural Education." The series was presented by Stephen Lamb and James Torrence.

After the program Mr. R.B. Carter was recognized for his eleven years of outstanding service in our chapter and for his promotion to Director of Vocational Education.

The next order of business was the installation of honorary members into the FFA. The three people so honored were W. T. Johnson, former agricultural teacher and now principal of Appomattox Primary School, James Nolan, head of agricultural Financing at Fidelity National Bank, and Ben Wheeler, father of our president.

The highlight of the evening consisted of the recognition of our members for their achievements during the year.

The most coveted award, that of Chapter Star Farmer, was awarded to James Torrence, a senior honor graduate and current vice-president. James also received the Public Speaking and On Farm Placement Awards.

The Crop Production and Soil and Water Management awards went to Phillip Lucado, while the livestock farming award went to Victor Banton.

Eddie Stratton was named winner of the Dairy Farming Sard and Larry Inge received the Star Greenhand award for outstanding 8th grader in agriculture.

Other awards were Alan Jones, Horticulture; Marvin and Calvin Mitchell, Home Improvement; Dale Jennings, R. N. Ashworth Farm Mechanics Award; Hal Smith, Electrification; and Charlie Gunter, Forestry.

After the awards ceremony, there was "open house" in the Dept. of Vocational Agriculture. Shop projects were displayed, along with the facilities used by the students.
